The DIMMER VIEW

Prison Reform Needs Reforming

This column is again indebted to State Senator H. L. Richardson of Arcadia for his comments on topical matters.

No other contributor has racked up Richardson's record for having material reproduced in this newspaper. Particularly well done was a series he produced on the Lompoc Prison—a facility that housed some of San Diego's outstanding citizens.

Many of his observations regard the state's penal institutions, as well they might, since he is a member of the State's Select Committee on Penal Institutions.

This week he takes a searching look at rehabilitation—what it is and what it isn't.

He says it's a mistaken idea that the sole aim of punishment is to prevent crime because that philosophy is grounded on the unprovable theory that crime can be prevented. Crime causes are so completely unknown that no simple scheme for their prevention is possible. Even though crime can't be prevented in the Utopian sense of the word, it can be prevented in the case of individual criminals. So long as the criminal is locked up, he is harmless to society and decent people. It is as simple as that. Anything else is wishful thinking—or worse.

During the past several decades, California's Department of Corrections has been inflicted with the insanity of the theory that society is the guilty party rather than the felon; and that by permissive penology, every criminal can be remolded into a useful citizen. The concept that every criminal is cured by the therapeutic blandishments of "rehabilitation" is starkly false. The evidence of this is the crime rate, seared into every newspaper reader across the state and nation.

The "work ethic" long ago discarded in California, works. It works beautifully in the Texas prison system where the felon spends his days at work, not playing golf, not swimming, not in the pursuit of a college degree, nor, may I add, in conference with his liberal attorney to foment riots, murders and escapes, Richardson noted.

In Texas, the felon gets good-time off his sentence for the number of days he works. And he doesn't work by choice, for no one chooses working in the fields or the shops in preference to spending the morning by the pool. The Texas felon can and does learn a trade for which he earns a certificate of competence which earns him a respectable job on his release. But he works for it. That is rehabilitation!"

Work is a forgotten word in the California correctional system. Witness the abandoned farms gone to weeds and the dead orchards at Folsom which once produced foods for the prison system in the state. Besides which, and much more important, it kept the prisoners productively occupied. It may seem barbaric to some, but eight hours of industrious labor convinces many criminals that they don't want to return to prison.

Another misconception, playing hob with the lives and fortunes of many law-abiding people in California, is that the felon is taught that he is wrongly jailed. That he is the victim! The simple and obvious truth is that the inmate has proven he couldn't be trusted on the streets and until such time as he is trustworthy, he should remain in jail. Our high crime rate is not the result of a whole new breed of criminals, generally speaking. It is the result of turning loose the untrustable to prey on the trusting.

Not only is the inmate indoctrinated with the idea that society, his environment, his parents and his schools are the guilty parties, but the attitude of tolerance for his criminal pursuits follows him out of prison by his parole or probation officer.

The parole officer's prime purpose should be to keep his charges from harming the law-abiding, not to shield the offender when he gets in trouble again. Parole ought to keep the parolee on the straight and narrow and help him become a responsible, productive, self-reliant member of society. Protecting him from the consequences of his criminal acts will never produce that. All it has done is fuel the soaring crime rates.

Richardson recently introduced legislation which, if enacted, is a step towards curing the mental blocks of the Department of Corrections in semantics. "It would again label as prisons our variety of 'institutions,' 'facilities,' 'camps,' etc. It would also again label the so-called superintendents of those prisons 'wardens'," he said.

"The silly procedure of calling inmates and parolees 'clients' should also be disposed of. If we can just return to the mentality that prisons are for punishment, we are taking a step in the right direction," Richardson says.

It's long past time we tossed out the experiments to disguise the purpose of prison and punishment by protecting the psyche of the criminal from any mention that he is paying a price for his life of crime. It's a deadly game, with the law-abiding the loser every time, concludes Richardson.

Today thru Sunday – Parade Saturday

Old Time Days Start in Grove

It's here!

Old Time Days has come to Lemon Grove for the 11th year in a row. It starts today and runs through Sunday.

The parade is Saturday.

The Old Time Days parade will feature a variety of attractions this year, including former sports stars, beauty queens, clowns and horses.

The parade will begin at 11 a.m., following the youngsters costume contest in the Goodrich Tire Company parking lot. The parade will begin at Broadway and Massachusetts and head east.

Grand Marshal Al Couppee, noted sportscaster and former pro-football star, is Grand Marshal and will lead the parade in a vintage auto. He will be accompanied by his "court" of former baseball personalities. Then comes the parade of 70 units. It will afford nearly an hour of entertainment.

Joining Couppee, will be honorary grand marshals Al Schuss, the baseball broadcaster who was voice of the Padres for 25 years, and Bob Kerrigan, former Padre pitcher.

Suzanne Pickerd, Miss Lemon Grove and Sharon Meyer, Miss Spring Valley will also ride in the parade.

Mr. Lem N. Grove, a favorite with the children and the parade symbol, will be joined by the Lemon Drip and the Lemonettes, who will distribute candy.

Several antique cars will roll for the parade. Horses, including those of the Sand and Sea Saddle Club, will also be in attendance.

Already in operation is a carnival on the parking area at St. John of the Cross church. Games, rides and food designed to attract youngsters and adults alike, are being featured.

The carnival, an annual feature of Old Time Days, aids the Chamber of Commerce in paying the cost of the parade.

Old Time Days News

An 8-page Old Time Days Parade Program is part of this newspaper today. In it is the Parade Order. Carry it with you to the parade Saturday to identify units.

It is also useful in identifying local firms co-operating with the annual Old Time Days Committee to make the event possible. Residents are urged to patronize local firms.

Nearly all business firms in Lemon Grove are participating in the Old Time Days event. Merchants list special merchandise at special prices and service-type firms are sponsoring units in Saturday's parade or are contributing funds so that non-commercial units may participate.

Women Voters Change Posture on AB 1267

The League of Women Voters have retracted "support of AB 1267", Donna Foster, president of the Grosmont-Cajon Valley unit said.

She claims more aspects of AB 1267 have become known since the group "suported" the Bill and that support is now being withdrawn.

She said the Bill was to avoid penalizing school districts which had frugally avoided using their available tax rate. AB 1267, called the "Stull amendment" by school people, does not do this she said.

Cigarette Sets $50 Blaze in LG

A lighted cigarette did $50 damage when it ignited an overstuffed couch last Friday. The fire was extinguished by the Lemon Grove Fire Department at 7872 North.

A fire, April 15, required both firemen and emergency aid service. A camper was set afire by children playing with matches at 1440 Madera. A woman suffered smoke inhalation at the fire and was given oxygen. No damage estimate was released by the Department.

Emergency aid crews also assisted a two year old child who choked on medication. She was given first aid and left in the care of her parents.

Helix Water District To Raise Hydrant Cost

Costs of water laterals and fire hydrant installations will go up July 1 following action by the Helix Water District Board of Directors last Wednesday.

Acting on a recommendation from the staff, the board approved increases of from $30 to $50 for new lateral installations depending on the size pipe used.

Fire hydrants will increase in cost by $25 to $135, depending on size and number of outlets and class of installation. Meters, which have gone up in price very little, are unaffected by the change.

The increases were recommended after the February financial statement showed costs for lateral installations had exceeded collections by $11,463 during the present fiscal year. The new fire hydrant rates continue to be based on a $100 contribution by the water district for each new hydrant.

Grove Man Guilty on Divorce Ad Charge

Jack Satin, of 7947 Nichols st., Lemon Grove, is scheduled to be sentenced May 13 on a misdemeanor charge of advertising aid in procuring a divorce. A Municipal Court jury found him guilty Monday.

LG Community Plan Outlines Future Prospects for Area

The preliminary Lemon Grove Community Plan was released to the public this week. The 54-page plan describes changes recommended by the Lemon Grove Citizens' Planning Committee for land use, transportation, medical and recreation facilities in Lemon Grove.

The report will now go before the San Diego County Planning Commission for further scrutiny. The public hearing before that group is tentatively scheduled for June 14. The County Board of Supervisors will receive the Plan from the Planning Commission and will also review it.

The preliminary plan, which was started over four years ago, hopes to give direction for future planning of Lemon Grove.

James Dorman, a LG attorney and the 1971-73 chairman of the Citizens' Planning Committee, said that, although most of the land in Lemon Grove has been zoned and accounted for, the Committee hopes the Plan will make future development more orderly and eliminate some of the citizen objections to the way LG was planned in the past.

Dorman said that the spirit of conciliation in the Committee eliminated earlier controversy over how the Broadway business corridor should be planned. He pointed to the unanimous adoption of the Plan as proof of this.

The plan points to several problem areas in Lemon Grove. It cites the area's lack of parks, medical facilities and the traffic congestion as needing attention.

Dorman said that the major obstacles facing solving these problems are lack of funds and voter indorsement. He said that the recent defeat of the LG Parks Initiative pointed out the difficulty in implementing some of the Committee's proposals.

The preliminary plan emphasizes both ecology and appearance in Lemon Grove.

It cites the needs to bring in rapid transit and non-polluting light industry to the area to insure that Lemon Grove will retain its "suburban" atmosphere. Rapid transit, the Citizen's Committee feels, will limit traffic congestion in Lemon Grove.

If this preliminary plan gets the green light from the Planning Commission and the Board of Supervisors, Lemon Grove can expect a future with better medical, recreational and transportation facilities.

Failed Election Costs L.G. $3,760

SAN DIEGO (CNA)—County Supervisor Dick Brown led an attack Tuesday on the bureaucracy which complicates the operation of local government.

To a recommendation that the Board adopt a resolution recognizing the failure of four measures to pass in a Lemon Grove election, Brown called upon his fellow Supervisors "to be very cautious" in the creation of special districts with the cost to taxpayers of their unsuccessful elections.

An election, held Dec. 19, to annex Encanto to County Services area 52, of Lemon Grove, failed, as did an attempt to set a tax rate for the services area. Other issues which failed involved development of park areas, for which purpose the district was formed.

The county will pay some of the costs of the election, but the services area will have to raise $3,760 to pay the registrar of voters' office as its share of the costs of the election.

The initial proposal was presented in compliance with the Winton Act which states such proposals must be presented to the public school governing board and become public record.

The teachers group will now meet and confer with School District officials and the Board to come to salary agreements. The teachers' group has asked the Board for a special budget hearing to present a five year budget study they have financed.

AAA Offers Tips For The Neglected Auto

While the fuel pinch may be easing, many cars are being rushed through filling stations without receiving proper maintenance, the Automoble Club of Southern California said.

The Auto Club advises motorists to perform the routine preventive maintenance chores that might be overlooked by hurried station attendants. Even the simplest preventive maintenance tasks might save a car from hundreds of dollars in repair bills, while assuring greater safety.

Louis J. Bintz, the Club's automobive engineering manager, said motorists "should study their owner's manuals thoroughly before undertaking do-it-yourself maintenance. The manuals offer vital information on the correct motor oil, tire pressure, tune-up specifications and other details."

He said motorists should regularly:

Check dipstick to assure the oil level is in the "safe" or "full" zone. If it's low, add a quart of oil or more, if needed.

Remove the radiator cap to check the water and coolant level. This mixture should be a few inches from the top. (Caution: Severe burns could be received if radiator cap is opened when radiator feels warm.)

Check tire pressure and tread wear.

Check wiper blades and replace if worn.

Blow horh to make sure it works.

Inspect and clean headlamps, taillights and turn signals. Inspect warning lights by observing if both oil and temperature lights go on when ignition key is turned PRIOR TO stepping on accelerator.

Make sure the fan belts are tight. A loose fan belt can slip going around the alternator, causing the battery to go dead within a few days. It also can cause the engine to overheat.

Check battery water level. The fluid inside should be high enough to cover the metal slats ("battery plates"). If they are exposed, use distilled water (preferably) or tap water to cover the plate fully.

Make sure there's plenty of fluid in the windshield washer reservoir. Plain water is okay for summer use if windshield washer fluid isn't available.

Make sure there's enough automatic transmission fluid in the power steering reservoir. If your car has an automatic transmission, check the fluid level for the transmission. Do this with the engine running and the parking brake on, after the engine has run a few minutes to warm up.

Summer Mussel Ban Includes the Clam

The seasonal ban on harvesting certain shellfish along the California coast starts May 1 and ends October 31.

Dr. William Mayer, the state health director who ordered the annual quarantine, had this to say about the reason:

"Warnings about eating mussels and clams during the summer and fall may seem silly to some people, but earlier in our history deaths from dinoflagellate poisoning were commonplace. So we have to keep reminding new generations that danger is still here."

Mayer explained that dinoflagellates, microscopic organisms on which most shellfish feed during the warm season, produces a toxin for which there is no antidote.

Local health officers in the coastal counties post signs on the beaches in English and Spanish, warning against taking mussels except for bait. The signs also advise shellfish lovers to wash clams thoroughly before cooking, and to eat only the white meat. All dark parts should be discarded.

Abalone and crabs do not feed on plankton, and there is no danger of poisoning from these shellfish," Mayer added. Oysters, which are potentially dangerous during these months, are harvested commercially and are controlled, he said.

HOME-COOKED

This Week's RECIPE

This week's recipe is good "party food" when you feel the mood to serve something exotic. It would go well with r.c and an oriental vegetable dish. Be sure to save the juices pour over the meat and rice for a flavor bonus.

Party Flank Steak with Curried Fruit

1 beef flank steak, 1½ to 2 pounds
1 (20-ounce) can pineapple chunks
¼ cup cooking oil
½ cup white dinner wine
¼ teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon ginger
½ teaspoon curry powder
1 finely chopped clove garlic
¼ cup finely chopped onion
¼ cup water
1½ tablespoons cornstarch
¼ cup chutney

Marinate steak 4 to 5 hours in mixture of syrup drained from pineapple, oil, wine, salt, ginger, curry powder, garlic and onion. Drain steak, reserving marinade. Broil 10 minutes on each side. Combine marinade water and constarch. Cook, stirring constantly, until thickened and clear. Stir in chutney and pineapple chunks. Serve with flank steak cut into thin strips. Makes 6 servings.

Grossmont Drama Presents 'A Man For All Seasons'

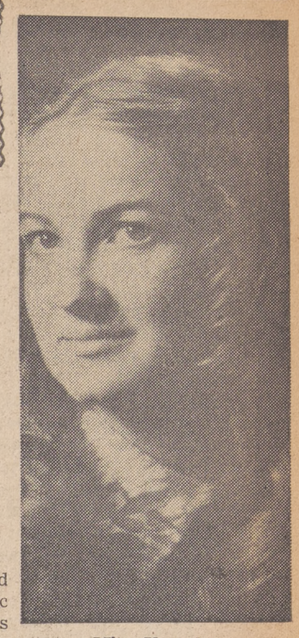

The Grossmont College Communication Arts/Drama Department will open Robert Bolt's drama "A Man For All Seasons" at 8 p.m., next Thursday, in the Student Center. The English play will be directed by student John Barker, San Diego. Debra Denson, La Mesa, designed the costumes while Arpad Petrass, San Diego, designed the sets. The play will also be presented on May 3, 4 and 5.

"A Man For All Seasons" concerns Sir Thomas More and his disagreement with Henry VIII over the king's divorce of his first wife, Catherine of Aragon and his subsequent marriage to Anne Boleyn. As a matter of conscience More didn't agree with Henry's divorce of Catherine and his break with Rome. He believed the church had a spiritual authority which should not be tampered with by any secular institution. When the final break came, he resigned the office of Chancellor of England.

More was incarcerated in the Tower of London for 15 months and then still having neither spoken against the King nor in support of him, was tried on July 1, 1535. Through the use of false evidence, he was found guilty of high treason and beheaded on July 6, 1535.

The cast list for "A Man For All Seasons" will include: Ron Groomes, Spring Valley, as Sir Thomas More; Mark Richards, La Mesa, as Thomas Cromwell; Ralph Jones, Spring Valley, as the Duke of Norfolk; Bill Bourus, La Mesa, as Richard Rich; Stegmann Rudy, Santee, as William Roper; Tim Bowler, Alpine, as King Henry VIII; Pierre Lemiux, El Cajon, as Signor Chapuys; Richard Wagle, Spring Valley, as Cardinal Wolsey,

The public is invited to see this drama set in 16th Century England. General admission is $1.50 with children and students being admitted for $1.00. Reservations are required and may be obtained by calling 465-1700 and asking for "Drama Reservations."

There's lots of ways to make money. Go to Las Vegas. Play the stock market. Invest in a racehorse. You might make money. You might even make a lot of it.
But, you're taking a risk. Can you afford to lose?
Of course you want to make money. Who doesn't? But you don't have to gamble. In fact, we're going to give you a tip on on a sure thing.
La Jolla Federal Savings and Loan. No doubt about it being a winner.
There's no way you can lose. Put your money in a savings account that pays the highest interest allowed by law and you've got it made. As long as your money is in the account, it will automatically be making more money. (And there are lots of savings plans and accounts other than regular passbook accounts. The more you save and the longer you save, the higher your interest will be.) How's that for a sure thing?
It may not sound as exciting as Las Vegas, the stock market or the race track, but there's no gamble. And when you're talking about your hard-earned money, gambling just doesn't seem to make much sense.

John Gardner

"It's the only Constitution we've got!" That will be the theme of John Gardner's address to the annual Law Day luncheon May 1 at the Community Concourse.

Gardner, national chairman of Common Cause, will discuss constructive use of the legal process to bring about social change, according to Colin Wied, chairman of the San Diego County Bar Association's Law Week activities.

"It will be both informative and topical," Wied said, "and should underscore this year's Law Week theme, 'Help preserve good laws... help change bad laws... help make better laws.' The slogan practically describes the business of Common Cause," Wied said, "which was a contributing influence in steering the Watergate issue down select legal avenues."

The luncheon is expected to draw some 2,000 guests. "To accommodate the expected student attendance, along with the general public, Walsh said that 1,100 seats in the concourse balcony would be available at no cost on a first come, first serve basis to hear Gardner's address.

CPO Awards $300,000 For Transit Study

The San Diego Region Comprehensive Planning Organization has awarded a $3,000,000 professional services contract to Parsons, Brinckerhoff, Quade, and Douglas, Inc. — VTN Consolidated, Inc., a joint venture based in San Diego.

The contract provides for consultant services leading to the refinement of a short and long range transit program to serve the San Diego Region. The initial stage of the contract is to be completed in ten weeks at a cost under $80,000. The total contract, which will exceed $300,000, is being undertaken in stages because of delays in additional funds from the Federal Department of Transportation. CPO expects a commitment for the additional outside funds before the first phase of the contract is completed.

Richard J. Huff, CPO's Executive Director, said the contract will permit the contractors to refine work which has been completed by the CPO staff.

Boat Mishaps Show Few Know Boat Safety

The California Department of Navigation and Ocean Development recently released statistics showing that the uninstructed boatman is involved in a majority of the State's boating mishaps.

The report disclosed that over two-thirds of all boat operators involved in accidents in 1973 had not taken any formal boating instruction. After reviewing 500 accident reports it was found that 337 boat operators had not taken any formal boating safety courses.

'Law in School' Tells Rights Of Students and Teachers

SACRAMENTO—Answers to hundreds of questions asked by teachers, parents and students in regard to their rights and obligations in the schools are spelled out in a new California Department of Justice publication, called "Law in the School."

"The intent of the book is to enable the teacher, the parent, and the student to better understand his rights and duties," State Attorney General Evelle J. Younger said.

The guide is available in book stores or may be ordered for $2 by writing: California Dept. of Justice, Legal Projects Unit, 400 State Bldg., 217 W. 1st st., L. A. 90012.

The book explains the law on everything from locker searches, to dress codes, from saluting the flag to carrying switchblades. Special sections on teachers' rights to suspend, students' rights to free speech, parents' liability for their children's misconduct, regulating outsiders on campus and laws protecting teachers from abuse and violence are of special interest.

Criminal law does not stop at the schoolyard gate. Teachers, as part of their education, must be able to recognize a crime when they see one and either call on law enforcement for assistance or take lawful remedial action, the attorney general said.

Also, neither students nor teachers shed their constitutional rights at the schoolhouse gate.

CALTRANS Turns Off Lights to cut Costs

Approximately 8,000 California freeway lights will be turned off in an effort to conserve and reduce maintenance costs, the California Department of Transportation (CALTRANS) has announced.

Caltrans Director Howard C. Ullrich said that the measure would result in a savings of around $650,000 annually.

"Lighting will not be reduced below that needed for safety," Ullrich said. He explained that Caltrans and the California Highway Patrol will soon begin a night field survey to determine which lights can safely be turned off.

"Lights that are turned off will not be removed," he said, "but will be identified by a reflective yellow band. That way motorists will know a light has been turned off intentionally and will not report it."

Ullrich estimates that it will cost approximately $200,000 to implement the measure, which is expected to be completed by June 1.

Ullrich explained that the lighting reductions will be part of an overall program designed to conserve energy and reduce Caltrans budget, which has been reduced by decreased gasoline tax revenues. The Department is currently taking steps to reduce its manpower by up to 1,300 positions by June, 1975. It has also announced plans to drastically reduce its freeway building programs and concentrate on improving existing facilities.

Other energy monetary-saving steps instigated by Caltrans include a 15 per cent reduction in its passenger-car fleed, reduced mileage allocations to district staff and non-replacement of over-age cars during 1974, a measure expected to save $2.3 million.

Frog Jump Slated At Del Mar Sunday

Amphibian athletes compete for trophies and charity Sunday in the 21st annual Jumping Frog Jamboree at the county fairgrounds in Del Mar.

The frog jumping contest, sponsored by the San Dieguito Jaycees to raise funds for basic cancer research at Scripps Clinic and Research Foundation in La Jolla, will be held from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. adjacent to the Don Diego tower on the Del Mar fairgrounds.

California bullfrogs, rounded up by the Jaycees in a massive night hunt along Spook Canyon creek near Encinitas, will be available at a "rent-a-frog" booth — or you can bring your own!

Admission is free. Commercial and club group entries are asked to donate $10. Individuals wanting to jump a frog pay $2.50 per person. The Jaycees will refund individuals $1.50 if the frog survives.

More than 7,000 spectators watched last year's contest, which raised about $1,000 for cancer studies. "We are hoping for attendance between 9-10,000 this year," said Frogmeister Allen Boll.

Diphtheria Case Points To Immunization Need

A case of skin diptheria has been found in a 49-year-old transient, according to an announcement from the County of San Diego Department of Public Health. Health officials said that fortunately all close contacts of the man had been immunized so there is no danger of the disease spreading.

They pointed out that the case emphasizes the importance of everyone, even adults, being immunized.

According to Dr. J. B. Askew, director of public health, the case was discovered when the man went to University Hospital for treatment of a foot infection.

Skin diptheria is unusual Dr. Askew noted. However, the same organism which causes skin diptheria is also responsible for the form of diptheria that was prevalent many years ago.

"The man was apparently exposed to a person carrying the disease after the sore developed on his foot," Dr. Askew said. "There are a few carriers in every community."

"This case is a good example of why it is important to be immunized," Dr. Askew noted. "The fact that there has not been a case of diptheria in a county resident for many years does not mean that diptheria organisms are not around. There are always carriers present. A relatively high level of immunity in the county has protected residents from an outbreak.

"When the immunization level of a community remains high, the likelihood of a widespread outbreak is remote. However, as long as some individuals are not immunized, there will be sporadic casts such as this one," Dr. Askew commented.

"Parents have a responsibility to see that their youngsters are immunized during the first year of life against diptheria and other communicable diseases." Dr. Askew said there are a number of different immunization schedules but usually a diptheria booster is given one year after the initial series and just before entrance into school.

"Adults should receive a booster every ten years or as often as their physician recommends," Dr. Askew noted. "The booster usually contains a combined vaccine for diptheria and tetanus."

25,000 Fans Seen for 'Bat Night' Saturday

Five special events are on the agenda for the current Padre homestand. One of them is tonight.

Two top teams from the San Diego Girls Softball Assn., Pizza Division, will compete in a 45-minute contest starting at 6 o'clock this evening. The teams are La Mesa Straw Hat Pizza vs. Filipi's Pizza Grotto. Players are 15-20 years of age.

At 7 p.m. the Padres host the Mets, Eastern Division champs.

On Friday, along with the Philadelphia Phillies, Safety Patrol Night and College Night will be observed. Game time, as usual, is 7 p.m.

More than 2,000 youngsters involved in the safety patrol program in San Diego schools will be in attendance. An unannounced number of college students will be on hand to occupy a loge section where they will be admitted for $1.50. These tickets may be purchased at various student service centers.

What possibly will be the biggest night of the year for the youngsters will be McDonald's Bat Night Saturday when the Padres face the Phillies for the second game of the three game series.

All youngsters, 14 years of age and under, will receive a Little League approved bat free of charge given by McDonald's Restaurants.

Comedians' Golf Event Date Moved

The date of the 1974 Comedians' Golf Classic at La Costa has been changed.

Jan Murray, chiarman of this year's event said the date had been changed from May to November 14-16 due to conflict in the schedules of other golf events.

The month of May is a busy month for those in the entertainment business, Murray noted.

La Costa is the scene of the Tournament of Champions just three weeks ahead of the original schedule of the Comedians event.

Past officials of the event have been Buddy Hackett, Jack Lemon, Dick Martin, Don Adams, Mike Douglas, Perry Como and Ed Sullivan.

Lemon Grove Auto Racer Sets Cajon Speed Record

Racing fans got an early preview of Cajon Speedway's Super Season Saturday night.

Jim Hitt, the 37 year old Lemon Grove flash who won seven features last season, zoomed to a record breaking 30-lap victory before 5,226 spectators on a blazing-fast new asphalt surface.

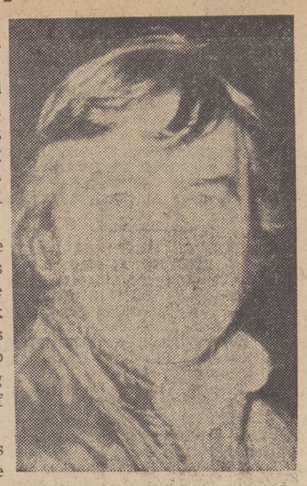

Hitt's new mark of nine minutes, 12.76 seconds was one of four established in the opener of a 23 super stock car season. Russ Bullen's 1:1342 was a new four lap trophy dash standard, topping Richard White's 1971 mark of 1:14:02.

The sounded the call of things to come when he lowered the single lap mark to :17:71 seconds. In fact, 12 other drivers shattered the old record of :18:40, set a year ago by John Dineen.

Then, John Borneman of El Cajon trailed eight laps of one of the heat races in 2:38:74. This bettered the three year old standard of 2:30:03 set by Richard White of Escondido.

Hitt's convincing win and the challenge of Bullen, driving a borrowed machine, indicated that the ex-champs are still to be reckoned with this season. Hitt won the title in 1971 while Bullen won titles in 1964 and '66.

Hitt started on the outside of the first row of the feature and dogged the pacesetter, Bullen, for 13 laps before taking over the lead. He made up for earlier losses in the trophy dash and eight lap heat to the Bonita driver, who has been out of action two years.

Hitt may have a lot of company this week and his assignment may not be as easy.

The super stocks will be paired on an odd-even basis from the time trials for the two heats and drivers will not know whether they will enter the fast or slow heat until another drawing prior to the program's start. But the ECSCRA still puts a priority on points. 7% of each night's purse going toward the Champion. So, the scramble will be on to reach the lead.

Nicklaus Favorite To Win MONY Tourney of Champs

The champions will decide their own champion starting today in the $200,000 Tournament of Champions at La Costa Resort Hotel, Spa and Country Club.

Golf's classic event, sponsored by Mutual of New York (MONY), will reward the winner with $40,000 for which he will have had to tame a course that offers a rare blend of charm and challenge.

Jack Nicklaus, defending champion, heads an impressive field, all winners of a major event within the past dozen months.

There are excellent reasons for Nicklaus' favoritism. He has won the event four times, considers a Tournament of Champions win of major significance, has the strength to extricate himself when necessary from La Costa's major league rough and has the soft putting touch that can handle the magnificent but mischievous greens.

And there are many excellent reasons why Nicklaus should not be favored. And among these more prominant are Lee Trevino, Johnny Miller, Tom Weiskopf, Ben Crenshaw, Hubert Green and Bobby Nichols.

Also figuring prominently in the result will be the strong San Diego County entry of Gene Littler, Billy Casper and John Schroeder.

But the appeal of the Tournament of Champions is not restricted to its field. It is the one golf event thta breaks par for the fans.

Parking is free. The field is limited, allowing the spectator to follow all the players if so desired. La Costa greens are huge and set so that the surrounding terrain allows excellent viewing for large crowds.

"At the Tournament of Champions the spectator actually feels he is part of the action," Nicklaus observes. "You can see so much for yourself because you can follow much of the field at the same time."

Ticket prices are $4.50 Thursday and Friday, $6.50 Saturday and Sunday. Children under 12 will be admitted for $1.50. Tickets for military personnel are $3.50.

Tournament season tickets, good for all days of the T of C, are $17, providing considerable savings over daily tickets purchased individually.

The field will start play at 11 o'clock Thursday and Friday, and around 9:45 on Saturday and Sunday. The entire field plays each tournament day.

Nicklaus' winning score last year was 276, with rounds of 70-70-68-68, one stroke ahead of Trevino.

La Costa's 7,114-yard manicured layout gave up 12 strokes to par to Nicklaus and host professional Tommy Jacobs figures it will take a similar performance to win this week.

"The course is tough, but so are the people who are playing it," reasons Jacobs.

Only one other player in this year's field has ever won the T of C. He's Littler, who won three consecutive titles, 1955-56-57.

There are two southpaws in the field, Bob Charles and Sam Adams and only one bachelor, Crenshaw.

Other players are Lanny Wadkins, Dave Hill, Dave Stockton, Bert Greene, Hale Irwin, Ed Sneed, John Mahaffey, Miller Barber, Leonard Thompson, Jerry Heard and Brian Allin.

Daily bus service will be available to the tournament. Service will be daily from Holiday Inn, Mission Valley, at 10 a.m. Thursday and Friday; 8 o"clock Saturday and 9 o'clock Sunday. Round trip fare is $2. Parking at the Inn is free. I.G.

TAKE FIVE

By John E. Wirges

INTER-OFFICE MEMO TO THE BOSS:

Dear Boss:

I know you always tell me not to write about publicity men cause it's their job to get notices for other folks, but this time I found a guy bent on making a few headlines for his own self.

The Kid's name is Bruce (The Fierce) Binkowski and he's famous for his softball playing, general team spirit, respector of adults and he also beats the drum for the San Diego Gulls.

He's a local product and has been around the sports scene working his way through University High School and University of San Diego.

During the term from then to now "Fierce," as he is called by the working press, has toiled for the Chargers, the (former) San Diego and (current) Houston Rockets, the Padres and, of course, the Gulls.

Now don't get the idea the kid can't keep a job and that is the way and wherefor he is bouncing around on the drum-beat sheet. That just ain't so. Fierce is a very good type who works hard, is loyal and true blue, knows how to keep his mouth shut when shifting gears, says "sir" to grownups unless they happen to be females of the opposite sex — then he says "ma'am" — and looks neat and presentable at least three-quarters of the time.

He grew up in a crowd, having four each of the brothers and sisters bit and gets along with most everybody up to and including Peter Graham. And that ain't easy for grownups. much less a sprite who thinks of Korea as ancient history.

But I'm getting ahead of my tale. It's the quality of the lad I want to report on. He's up there on the list of all time great PR types for the best of reasons — he never left a thirsty portable-pounder dry at the bar; remembers media members at Christmas and lies to editors when an occasional reporter inhales one too many glasses of bonded loudmouth and misses his deadline.

Fierce learned the finer points of his trade from that old Hawaiian leprechaun himself, Bob King, now plying his magic with the Denver Rockets. The two came together when King was the head number in the Charger's stats crew. They moved together to the Rockets where King taught Fierce the most important thing a flack must know — how to pick up a tab. The kid never forgot. Bless him for that.

Bink went with the Rocket franchise to Houston for a year, he was committed to teaching Elvin Hayes how to spell his name, but showed good sense getting back to San Diego in prime haste when the cage campaign was completed. He's a bright kid.

Fierce first got into drum-beating at Uni High, where he taught "Bull" Trometter how to smile. At least he tried, Bull never made it.

Along the line he took advice from Lyle Bond, Eddie Leishman, Bob King and, of course, his present boss Bob Breitbard. Pretty good teachers, wouldn't you say?

You might wonder why I'm going to all this trouble, but there is a reason. You see, Bruce (The Fierce) is going to marry your pretty little daughter Lisa Ann in July. I don't exactly know how that came about but apparently one of 'em asked and the other said yes.

Now Lisa went around the world with that Campus Afloat semester last year and she has seen a thing or three. It's hard to believe the best she's seen is Bruce but that's how kids are now-a-days.

I'd just like to say I think Fierce is one helluva guy and I further think he'll make one helluva son-in-law. With six kids of my own, three boys and three of the other kind, I'd like to see someone of Fierce's attitude and ability show-up in the life of any of my female kids. Hell Boss, think of it this way. You're not losing a daughter, you're gaining a bedroom.

Gulls Miszuk Makes All-Stars

Three Gulls have been named to the Western Hockey League all-star teams.

Defenseman John Miszuk was selected to the first team for the second consecutive year. John Adams, Durable Gull goalie and sophomore defenseman Murray Kennett were second team selections

Miszuk set Gull records for most points by a defenseman (49) and most total points by a San Diego blue-liner (57) this past season. A steady performer, he completed his fourth year with the Gulls and has only missed four games.

Goalie John Adams is the second team all-star goalie. The veteran goalie set a handful of club records for a single season including games (69), minutes (4049), saves (2093), and wins (38). John also led the WHL in those four departments.

The third member of the Gulls to receive all-star recognition is second year defenseman Murray Kennett. The young (21), quiet backliner tallied 31 points on six goals and 25 assists. Kennett missed only one game during the regular season.

Players in the league did the voting for the all-star teams.

Frank Conner—A $100,000 Winner

Record 66 In Mini Tourney

A record field of 66 players are competing this week in the sixth tourney of the International Tournament Golf Association series underway at Carlton Oaks Country Club in Santee.

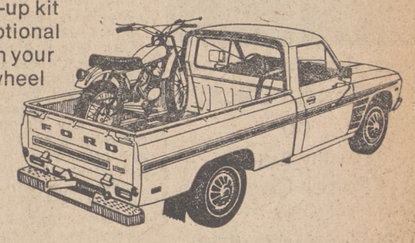

The ITGA series, co-directed by Bob Clark and Bruce Osborne, is fast proving to be one of the most popular stops on the MINI Tour for both PGA and non-PGA players alike. Golfers who normally play in the east and south are finding the Carlton Oaks course (to be the scene of the NCAA Gold Tournament in June) to their liking. The Clark-Osborne format of returning 90 percent of the entry fee back to the players in prize money draws overwhelming endorsement.

The field toughened up this week with the arrival of Frank Conner from San Antonio, Texas. Conner, 27, is the leading money winner on the MINI circuit, gathering checks totaling more than $100,000 in 1973 and the first part of 1974.

Griffs Track Champs For 5th Straight Year

Grossmont College rolled by Palomar, 95-50 and Saddleback, 129-9 last Friday to give the Griffins their fifth straight Mission Conference championship in track and field.

With the double-victory, the Griffins also extended their dual meet winning streak to 44.

Sophomore Doug Baldwin was the Griffin star as he hit 50 feet, 2 inches in winning the triple jump over Palomar's Al McClure, who hit 49-10½.

In addition, Baldwin won the high jump (6-6) and placed second in the long jump (22-10¼).

Griffin freshman Greg Baer also hit personal records in the discus (160-3) and the shot put (52-0½), while Berky McDonald hit his best in the long jump (23-8¼).

Mt. Miguel Wrestler Wins Breitbard Award

In an unprecedented action, the Breitbard Athletic Foundation has named as its March amateur Star of the Month the entire unbeaten Kearny High School basketball team which swept through 32 games during its drive to the San Diego CIF championship.

Throughout its 28-year history, the Foundation has restricted such awards to individual performers, but the board of governors felt the Kearny squad was deserving of special recognition.

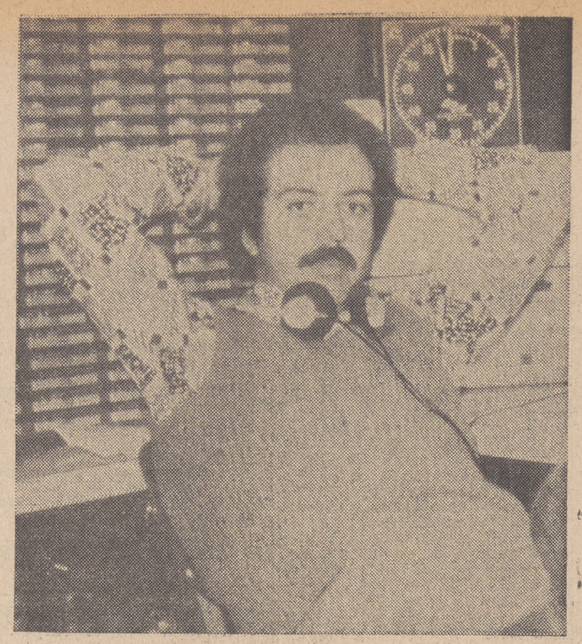

From a host of other candidates, the board named John Siscon, Mount Miguel High 98-pound wrestler who won the 1974 CIF championship; Malin Burnham, who captured the coveted Lipton Cup for the third time; Stan Washington, U.S.D. basketball guard who set career highs for total points, average, assists and field goals, and Bob Kloppenburg, named coach of the year by the National Assn. of Basketball Coaches for his work with U.S.I.U.

COUNTRY WESTERN — Ed Chandler, a disc jockey at station KSON for the last three years has recently opened a mail order record business in the Lemon Grove area with his partner, Frank Lee.
Both men are Lemon Grove residents. Chandler said that he realized that there was a need for a Country and Western record outlet when he received numerous phone calls at the studio asking where one could get Country style records.
So far, Lee and Chandler have filled over 3500 orders since they opened in February. They now find themselves looking for a location to expand their business. Chandler who is from Texas, and Lee who is from Arizona both believe Country and Western are very popular. Chandler said that his business success is due to the fact that "Country Western is bigger in San Diego than people realize."

All-Girl Rodeo Weekend Feature

SAN DIEGO COUNTRY ESTATES — Beauty and the beast will be the theme once again when the West's top girl cowhands challenge bucking broncs and bulls at the Western States All-Girl Rodeo Championship at this resort community Saturday and Sunday.

Some 150 girls are expected to compete for $2500 in added prize money, with six events scheduled for each day of competition.

The resort community in the San Vicente Valley is reached from San Diego via Highway 67 to Ramona, or from Los Angeles via the San Diego Freeway and Highway 78 to Ramona and following the signs.

Super Sprints at South Bay Speedway

The South Bay Park Speedway in Chula Vista comes up with something a bit different Saturday when the high flying Super-Sprint Buggies and Baja Sedans of the Southern California Independent Drivers Assn. race in a 10-event program.

It will be the first off-road racing event of the year on the South Bay track. Racing starts at 8 p.m., preceded by time trials at 7 p.m. over the ⅝-mile multi-jump dune buggy course. More than 70 cars and drivers will be carded.

A 25-lap main event for the super-sprint buggies and a 15 lap feature for the Baja sedans top the night's racing. Gates open at 6 p.m., when 4,500 general admission seats go on sale at $3.50 for adults.

Caliente Reopening Scheduled for May 4

TIJUANA, MEXICO—Thoroughbred racing resumes May 4 at the new Agua Caliente Racetrack in Tijuana on the site of the former track destroyed by fire nearly three years ago.

Built at a cost of $15-million, the new racing facility will be one of the most modern and lavish in North America, featuring a blending of mission and Mexican colonial architecture.

Fernando Gonzalez, a Mexico City newspaper publisher, serves as president and director general of Agua Caliente and Jack P. Meyers as the director of racing. Jesus Martinez will act as racing secretary and H. E. Hopkins as handicapper and placing judge.

The feature race on opening day will be the $20,000 Express Handicap, a six furlong event for 3-year-olds and upward. On May 5 the feature will be the Cinco DeMayo, a $10,000 event for 3-year-olds over a distance of one mile.

Post time will be 12:10 p.m. on Saturday and Sunday with 12 races to be run each day. The famed Caliente 5-10 will again be available to bettors and they will also be able to wager on the Kentucky Derby at Churchill Downs track odds.

Although some features of the new track will not be ready on opening day — the turf club is scheduled for completion in August—the grandstand seating 10,800 will be in operation as will the ground and first level of the clubhouse. Total seating capacity of the track will be 16,400 when completed.

It's 'Shotgun' Albarado Vs. Eddie Mazon Friday

Boxing fans whose bag is middleweight division fighters can "let it all out" Friday at Mickey Davies' Coliseum.

Oscar "Shotgun" Albarado, long heralded as one of the most feared belters in the business will engage the local whiz kid Eddie Mazon.

They met once before — at the Olympic Auditorium—and it was a brawl. But Albarado survived the close 10-round verdict over the San Diegan.

An added inducement for "Shotgun" is the contract he signed to fight Japan's Koichi Wajima for the world middleweight title. Albarado is from Uvalde, Texas, and is ranked fifth among the world's 154 pounders. His seven-year record is 51-5-1 with 40 ko's. He has fought Hedgemon Lewis, Armando Muniz, L. C. Morgan, Pedro Adigue and "Indian" Red Lopez.

On the supporting card, 17-year old Manuel Lujan, the 1974 L. A. Golden Gloves featherweight champion. Lujan is Madison High school senior making his pro debut.

The first bout is at 8:15 with seats ranging in price from $3-$7.50.

Last Week

Last week Renato Garcia, middleweight favorite of Chile, with a 25-0 record, outpointed veteran Jesus (Chu Cho) Garcia in 10 rounds before a crowd of 1,900. While Renato was winner by a wide margin, he came nearer being decked than in any of his previous appearances here. He caught a good right hand in the third round and appeared befuddled.

In a companion 10-rounder, Mike Mayon, 136, won a surprise ko decision over Cesar Sinda, 135¼, of the Congo, in the second round.

Tommy Nava, 129, and Danny Tapia, 131, both of San Diego, received a money ovation for their four-round effort. Tapia dropped his opponent for the 8-count in the second round.

In the finale, Felix Jasso, 139, San Ysidro, scored a split decision over Moses Corbin, 136, S.D.

Charger Games Go on Teevee 39

KCST-39 television and the San Diego Chargers have agreed on a new three-year contract for showing of Charger pre-season football games.

All six of San Diego's 1974 summer games will be shown on channel 39 with sports director Mike Smith handling the play-by-play. Smith won a "Golden Mike" in 1973 as best sportscaster in California.

Four Charger Saturday night home games at San Diego Stadium will be taped for replay on Sundays from 5 to 7:30 p.m. Two road games, against the St. Louis Cardinals at Memphis, Tenn., and against the Minnesota Vikings, will be shown live Saturdays at 6 p.m.

Charger fans have been alerted to the annual meeting of the Charger Backers which will be held at the Sports Club at San Diego Stadium on Monday night, club president Paul Corriere said.

Highlights of the program will be a welcome from Charger coach Tommy Prothro, first showing of the new Charger film and election of 1974 Charger Backer officers.

The meeting at 7:30 p.m. is open to all members, guests and prospective members. With a roster of 1,408 families, the Charger Backers are one of the largest fan clubs in pro football.

Carnival Helps CoC

Few parade-watchers are aware of it but the annual parade and carnival is paid for by Lemon Grove business firms. Each firm participating taxes itself in relation to the number of employees on its payroll.

The five-day carnival on the parking area at St. John of the Cross church usually produces a profit which is used to help defray Chamber of Commerce expenses.

Some of the booths at the carnival are assigned to local school, church or service organizations. Any profit that is made is used by these organizations for their own projects.

The grounds are donated by St. John of the Cross church. The carnival pays its expenses from the income of the rides and amusement devices with a percentage going to the chamber. The bulk of this income is from advance sales of discount ride books. The arrangement is similar to that made up and down the coast by the carnival firm, the chamber said.

The carnival is open from 10 a.m. daily except Sundav when it starts at noon.

SUPPLEMENT TO THE LEMON GROVE REVIEW/SPRING VALLEY BULLETIN

Saturday's O.T.D. Parade

'Every Year It's Better'

Miss Lemon Grove and Parade Chairman Don McCray

Every year it gets bigger and better. That's what Don McCray, chairman of the 1974 edition of Lemon Grove's Old Time Days says about Saturday's parade.

The parade will start promptly, as it has in past years. It leave Broadway at Massachusetts and heads east at 11 a.m.

Just prior to the start a youngsters' costume contest will be judged in the Goodrich Tire Co. parking lot at 7285 Broadway. That will give the kids a chance to get in the parade and show off their dress.

The parade itself will be "gigantic". More than 70 units have been listed in the Order of March (see pages 4 and 5).

In the first unit are the marshals. Grand marshal Al Couppee, famed sportscaster who was a boxer, a wrestler, a college football star and a pro football player with the Washington Redskins.

Baseball Greats

Honorary marshals are Al Schuss, nationally known baseball broadcaster who was the voice of the Padres for 25 years, and Bob Kerrigan, who once pitched the Padres to a pennant in old Lane Field.

The marshals will be riding in vintage autos which are supplied by Clarence Scheidel, an auto restoration buff.

Mr. Lem N. Grove, the symbol of the parade will also be in the first division. He is about 10 feet tall. His court is the Lemon Drip and the Lemonettes. These "cuties" will distribute lemon flavored candy along the parade route.

Suzanne Pickerd, Miss Lemon Grove will grace the division too. In all there will be 18 units in the first division.

Sharon Meyer, Miss Spring Valley will be among the 12 units in the second division. A "unique" entry, according to McCray, is a troop of Irish

Sharon Meyer, Miss Spring Valley will be among the 12 units in the second division. A "unique" entry, according to McCray, is a troop of Irish Setter show dogs who are trained in obedience. The Jolly Trolley, a 2-deck bus with its three shades — Vanilla, Strawberry and Chocolate — will highlight the second division. 12 units comprise this division.

A horse color-guard and the San Diego State University clowns will highlight the third division with its 12 units.

A 52-year old Model-T Ford and the Helix Bagpipes will hold the viewer's interest in the fourth division with its 10 units.

The horse drill team of the Sand and Sea Saddle club will add to the fifth division's highlights. The Mt. Miguel High school marching band and a "Horseback Shotgun Wedding" are among the division's 15 units.

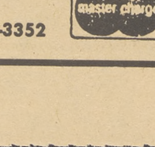

Another beauty, Debbie Ashdown who is Miss Pacific Beach; a Walking Rosary and "the 40 Fords of San Diego" will be among the 14 units in the sixth and final division.

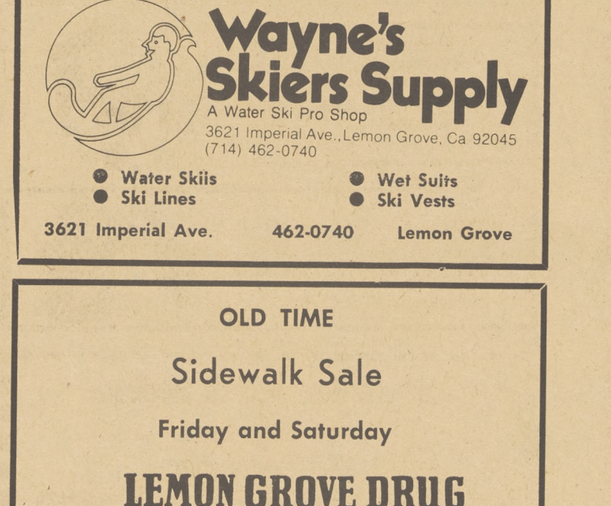

Marchers will disband in an area just off Broadway near St. John of the Cross Catholic church. The church grounds is the site of a carnival sponsored by local business firms. Food booths and games will be operated by local groups. New this year is a beer booth. The carnival owners operate the rides. There will be eight adult and eight childrens' rides. Tickets have been available in books of five for one dollar until this week. The tickets have a value of up to 55 cents.

Sharon Meyer— Miss Spring Valley

Al Schuss — 'Voice of Padres'

He, it is said, did as much to make the Padres popular with his exciting baseball descriptives as did the team itself. Schuss lives in nearby La Mesa.

A player whose name came up often in Schuss broadcasts was the pennant-winning pitcher of 1954. That would be a Spring Valley Resident Runge, American Baseball League umpire, was also scheduled to join Couppee, Schuss and Kerrigan but unexpected developments made his appearance unlikely.

The trio of sports figures will ride in vintage autos supplied by Clarence Scheidle and lead the parade to the dispersal area at the east end of Broadway near St. John of the Cross Catholic Church.

Marshal Couppee will start the parade east on Broadway from the formation area near Massachusetts at Broadway at 11 a.m. Saturday, April 27.

"Coup" brought his expertise to television sports broadcasting in San Diego in 1961 and for 13 years was recognized as the dean of the sports airways.

Big Ten Players

He came here from Des Moines where he attended U. of Iowa. When he graduated in 1942 he was named all-Big-Ten quarterback for the Hawkeyes. He won the Golden Gloves heavyweight championship in 1942. He is past president of the Sportscasters/Sportswriters Assn., a member of Football Writers Assn. of America, past president of the board of trustees of San Diego Hall of Champions, a member of Outdoor Writers Assn. of America and various other national and local sports oriented clubs and organizations.

Schuss, too, is known nationally. He is known in San Diego for 25 years of Padre broadcasting when the Padres were at Lane Field.

Schuss was a baseball broadcaster in Chicago with the famed Pat Flannigan. Later he announced with Red Barber in Brooklyn. He was also the voice in Portland before joining the PCL Padres.

A BANK IS A BANK IS A BANK...

unless it's
San Diego Trust.

Here's why!

Most people think banks are all alike. Most of them are. But many years ago, San Diego Trust decided to be different. And that decision still holds today.

We decided to think of banking from the customer's point of view... to create services that really fit your needs. The result? We were first with no-charge checking (with a $100 minimum balance)... first with high-earning savings accounts (InvestAccount)... first with one low price on auto loans (new or used) ...and the first bank in San Diego to offer Master Charge.

Doesn't a bank that's been first with that many good ideas sound like your kind of bank?

Come talk with us
at our Lemon Grove office.

Where money matters, but people count.
